

2012 WEMBO World Solo 24 Hour Mountain Bike Championships Finale Ligure : Italy : 19/20 May 2012

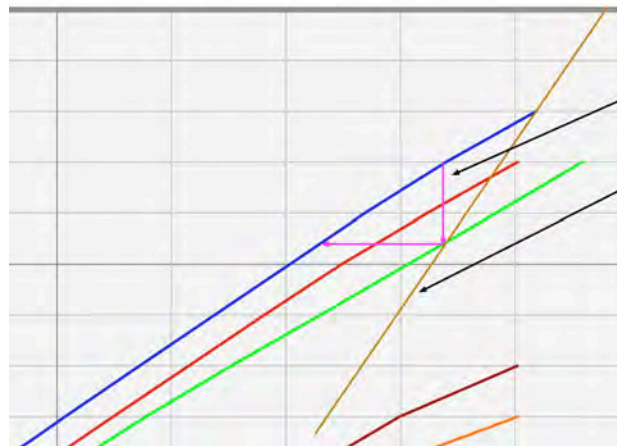

Explanation of the Rider Lap-Time Graphs

These graphs track the rider's progress throughout the race so you can see changes in speed, rest periods and when one rider passed another rider.

In some cases, the graphs have been combined for more than one category if there were not many riders in a single category. All the Women riders are shown on one page.

When you look at a graph, you can see how far ahead or behind a rider is compared to another rider. This extract shows how to do that:

At this point, you can say that the Purple Rider is:

- 1.6 laps behind the Blue Rider (vertical line), or
- 1.2 hours behind the Blue Rider (horizontal line).

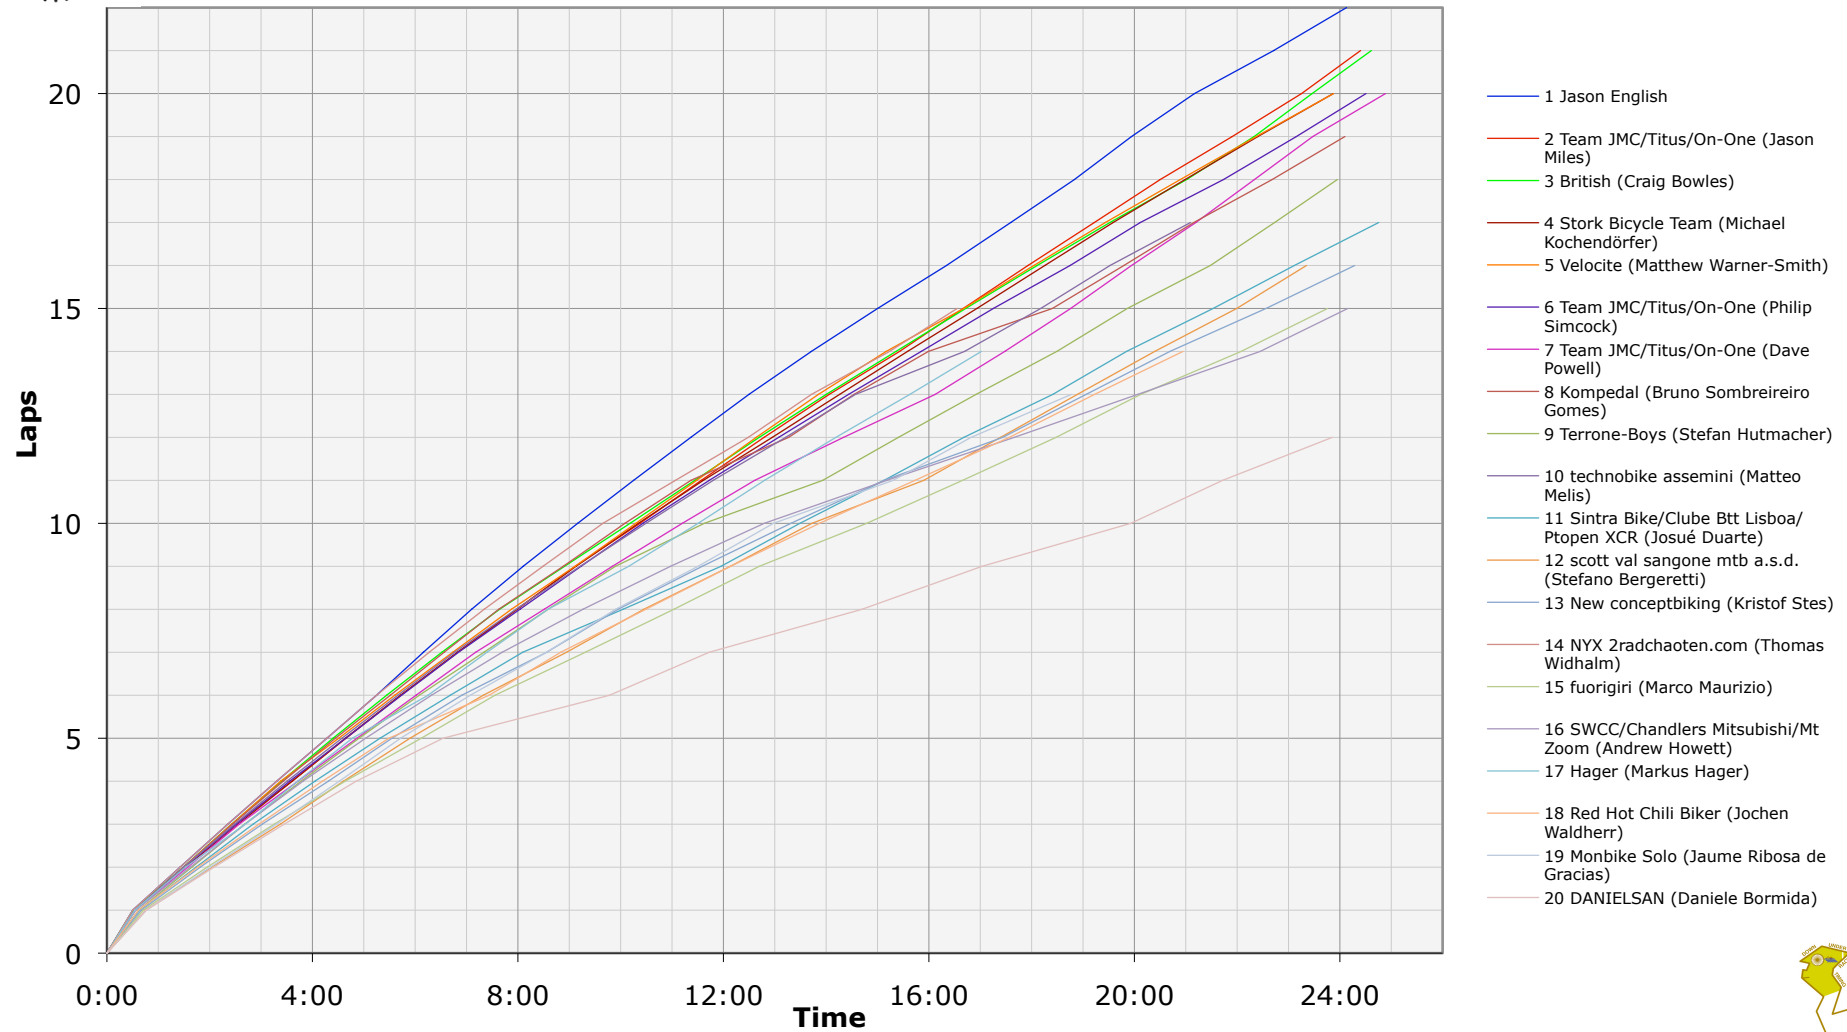

To catch the Blue Rider by the end of the race from that point, the Purple Rider would have to ride at an average speed indicated by the slope of the Brown Line.
