

2014 WEMBO World Solo 24 Hour Mountain Bike Championships

Race Progress Graphs

These graphs show the progress of the top 20 riders in each category throughout the race in graphical form.

You can see approximately when riders overtake each other, and also measure the difference between riders in either time or laps at any point.

In the example on the right, in comparing the blue rider to the red rider, using the purple arrows, you can say:

- (vertically) that the blue rider is about one-third of a lap ahead, or
- (horizontally) that the blue rider is about 18 minutes ahead.

You can enlarge the graphs in Acrobat up to 6400% to see fine detail at any point. At that magnification, the thickness of the rider's line represents about 20 seconds of race time.

If a rider's progress line has a large kink in it, that normally means the rider has taken a rest in the pit before commencing another lap.

If there was only one female rider in a category, then they are shown on one graph (45_49 and 50_54 Women)
